Possible consequences of us processing your personal data

If we, or a fraud prevention agency, determine that you pose a fraud or money laundering risk, we may refuse to provide the services and financing you have requested, or we may stop providing existing services to you.

A record of any fraud or money laundering risk will be retained by the fraud prevention agencies, and may result in others refusing to provide services, finance or employment to you. If you have any questions about this, please contact us.

Marketing

From time to time we may make you aware of products or services which are similar to the ones you currently hold with us that may be of interest to you. We will only do this if we consider this type of processing to be a legitimate business interest. You are able to get in touch and ask us to stop sending you these messages at any time. If you chose not to receive marketing information you will still receive important information about your product or service.

How long will we keep your personal information?

We will keep your personal information for as long as you are a customer of Paragon Banking Group. After you stop being a customer we may keep your data for up to 12 years for one of these reasons;

- to respond to any questions or complaints
- to show that we treated you fairly
- to maintain records according to our regulatory and statutory obligations

We will keep your data for longer than this if we cannot delete it for legal, regulatory or technical reasons. We will also keep it for research, fraud prevention, money laundering, capital, liquidity, risk and business forecasting purposes. When this happens, we will make sure that your privacy is protected and we will only use it for these purposes.

Your information rights

You have various rights in terms of how and why your personal data is processed. Please contact us at any time if you wish to exercise these rights:

- You have the right to rectify and correct inaccurate or out of date information at no extra cost
- You may be able to request the deletion or removal of personal data where there is no compelling reason for its continued processing. You don't have an absolute 'right to be forgotten' but we will consider the request in specific circumstances
- You have the right to ask us not to use your information for marketing purposes and to ask us to stop sending you marketing communications
- You have the right to restrict and/or object to certain processing, providing it meets the requirements set out in law
- You have the right to obtain human intervention if contesting a decision based on any automated decision-making means. For example, before offering you a loan, we may carry out an automated credit search. CRA's provide us with data and analytics that may help us with this search and our own data, knowledge, processes and practices will also play a significant role in our decision to lend. If you contest the automated decision, we are able to carry out a manual review of your data. However, this may not change the outcome of the initial automated decision and this may result in you being refused a product or service
- You have the right to move, copy or transfer personal data. If we are processing data to perform our obligations to you, or because you consented, if that processing is carried out by automated means, we will help you to move, copy or transfer your personal data to other IT systems. If you request, we will supply you with the relevant personal data in a format which is readily accessible by most IT systems
- You have a right to access the personal information that we hold about you. We won't charge you for this request, however, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is largely unfounded or if you make repeated requests. Please make your request in writing to the team that services your account. If you require a specific document please make this clear. Telephone calls will not be provided as standard as not all departments will record their calls. If you require a specific conversation, please provide as much detail as possible to enable us to locate this on your behalf

Transfer of your personal information overseas

Some or all of your personal information may be transferred to, stored or processed by service provider of ours located in countries outside the European Economic Area (EEA) where data protection laws may not be as strict as they are in the UK.

In these circumstances we will take the necessary steps to ensure that the transfer of your data is in line with UK data protection requirements and that your information is treated securely and protected to a similar standard.

We will only send your data outside the EEA to;

- follow your instructions
- comply with a legal duty

If we do transfer information outside of the EEA, we will make sure that it is protected in the same way as if it was being used in the EEA. We'll use one of these safeguards;

- transfer it to a non-EEA country with privacy laws that give the same protection as the EEA
- put in place a contract with the recipient that means they must protect it to the same standards as the EEA

Whenever fraud prevention agencies transfer your personal data outside of the EEA, they impose contractual obligations on the recipients of that data to protect your personal data to the standard required in the EEA. They may also require the recipient to subscribe to 'international frameworks' intended to enable secure data sharing. For further information please contact the fraud prevention agencies listed within this notice.

If you chose not to give personal information

We may need to collect personal information by law, under the terms of a contract we have with you. If you chose not to give us this personal information it may delay, or prevent us from meeting our obligations. It may also mean that we cannot perform services needed to run your accounts. It could mean that we cancel a product or service that you have with us.

Complaints

If you wish to complain about how we have treated your personal data, please contact the complaints team within your usual servicing department to discuss your concerns.
